

5/7/2021

Sections

Get one year for €20

Sign In

Streamlined navigation.
Custom news alerts.
Stunning visuals.

Read in app

After controlled demolition, what remained of the Surfside condo is leveled

The demolition 0:31

(Video: Reuters; photo: AP)

With Tropical Storm Elsa nearing, officials worried the squalls would topple the remaining building, further burying potential survivors and bodies.

By Reis Trebasuk and Brittany Shammas

What you need to know about the Florida condo collapse as the search for survivors continues and probe begins

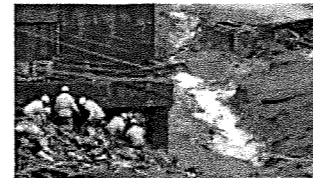

With trillions at stake, Democrats must face tough choices on Biden's agenda within weeks

By Mike DeBonis

As a student, Tracy Stone-Manning sent a letter on behalf of ecoterrorists. It's now complicating her chance to lead the Bureau of Land Management.

By Joshua Farkow and Dino Grandoni

Rescuers seek 80 missing people after deadly landslide in Japan seaside town

Torrential rains triggered a landslide, but officials wonder if deforestation and development also contributed.

By Simon Denyer

Step back like a billionaire: Previous tech titan exits offer examples for Bezos

Billionaire bosses such as Bill Gates, Mark Cuban and Meg Whitman turned to philanthropy, sports and politics in their second acts. Jeff Bezos, who leaves his post as Amazon CEO on Monday, is going to space.

By Jay Greene

Animals' feelings loom large as British Parliament debates sentience bill

How does a lobster feel when it's dropped into the boiling pot? Is an octopus sad, sometimes? The bee feel joy? The earthworm anxiety? The British Parliament wants to know.

By William Booth

Biden heralds U.S. emergence from the pandemic, but he risks celebrating too soon

By Sean Sullivan and Matt Viser

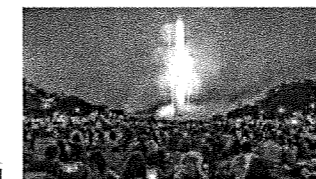

If you got the Johnson & Johnson coronavirus vaccine, should you get a booster dose of Pfizer or Moderna?

By Eén Guarino and Alyson Chu

GOP governors implore residents to get vaccinated

By Amy E. Wang and Nick Miroff

Thousands in D.C. celebrate a nearly normal Independence Day

By Washington Post Staff

Photos: Independence Day in the nation's capital

OPINIONS

Why critics and the dissenters are true patriots

Opinion by E.J. Dionne Jr.

Remember the Bicentennial? Celebrating might be even harder for America's 250th birthday.

Opinion by Jennifer Finney Boylan

It's time MLB celebrates Larry Doby Day, too

Opinion by Luke Eppstein

This Fourth of July holiday, let's remember that America's future is in our hands

Opinion by the Editorial Board

Ron DeSantis can't let a Surfside inquiry become the usual political cover job

Opinion by Bennett Levin

Those 'ungrateful' citizens? They are the most American of all.

Opinion by Christine Emba

MORE TOP STORIES

Elsa is forecast to bring rain, wind and ocean surge to Florida

Stormy conditions are expected between Monday night and early Wednesday in Florida before the storm heads up the Southeast coast.

By Jason Samenow

Cuba evacuates 180,000 as Elsa nears

Inseparable: Together for 75 years, Carters will celebrate longest marriage in presidential history

On Wednesday, Jimmy, 96, and Rosalynn, 93, will mark the occasion in the town where they met nearly a century ago. Three days later, family, friends and Carter administration officials will travel to Plains, Ga., for an anniversary party in the local high school auditorium.

By Kevin Sullivan and Mary Jordan

Then Georgia State Sen. Jimmy Carter hugs his wife, Rosalynn, at his Atlanta campaign headquarters in 1976. AP

Fox News host Mark Levin keeps criticizing other personalities at Fox News

Levin, a star of conservative talk radio who joined Fox in 2017, has taken a markedly different tack.

By Jeremy Barr

Smugglers are partly behind Lebanon's energy crisis. The army is struggling to stop them.

By Sarah Daddouch and Nader Durgham

DON'T MISS

A memorial for the missing and deceased in Surfside, Fla. (Octavio Jones for The Post)

Survival or death came down to a single number: The condo unit

By Washington Post Staff

What to know about Rise of the Moors, an armed group that says it's not subject to U.S. law

By Max Hauptman

Hours-long standoff between police, heavily armed men outside Boston ends with 11 arrests

The Lily Analysis

Consider these questions to improve your work life, these authors say

Anne Helen Petersen and Amelia Horgan argue that millennial women workers need to think collectively.

By Nicole Prolo

Perspective

Seven TikTok accounts you should be following for a quick shot of joy

By Travis M. Andrews

